Standard platform for agile projects and business processes available both on premise and cloud-based

Nürnberg, May 15, 2018: As an originally exclusive manufacturer and provider of standard software for insurance businesses, the Novum Group prospectively provides its DevOps Toolkit NDO to Enterprise clients of other branches. According to Novum, the development and business processes for the in-house software development, the project design of clients' projects as well as V'ger Sky – the company's cloud service which has been awarded with the Digital Leader Award – are based on DevOps Toolkit NDO.

Hence, the DevOps Toolkit, with which the insurance industry has been working successfully for years and continues to do so, is now ready for download to businesses' own computing centers and clouds.

Customers benefit from standards and render themselves independent

„In order to realize a modern and agile software project including safe and fast business releases, a professional DevOps procedure is indispensable. The DevOps Toolkit NDO provides the Enterprise user with this professional DevOps procedure, which, in addition, can be individualized and adapted to the user's necessities,“ explains Michael Kraus, CEO of the Novum Group.

Novum's Toolkit is already being used by well-known insurance and software companies with preminent success. According to Novum, medium-sized enterprises can obtain the Toolkit also as a mere cloud service in the near future.
